THE LIVELY ARTS...

We encourage construction of a civic auditorium which may be jointly accessible and useful to Cameron Independent School District.

CISD has plenty of projects and construction it needs to consider. A joint auditorium could be maintained, for example, by school personnel while the brick and mortar could be built by private, public, and combination subscription, such as Cameron Public Library.

There is little difficulty in bringing everything from major symphony to individual artists of all kinds to this community.

Danny Kelley, a graduate student and former Cameronite, is giving a benefit concert at National Guard Armory April 1. We imagine school and community crowds will be large enough to contribute much to the benefit of a park in West Cameron.

This is the kind of individual concert we can bring off. Community concert subscription series, all types of entertainment for teenagers, Little Theatre work, operettas and plays in a proper setting for junior and senior high students are a few examples an auditorium would enable.

The armory is located out of the way; the school auditorium is more adequate as a library than auditorium.

OJT Mid-school gym-auditorium is used for many school functions. No other facility has inclined floor and modern stage, lights, acoustics.

A combination auditorium will require perhaps 1,000 seats and plenty of offstreet parking. A central location would be ideal, but the most central, next to the Cameron Public Library has little room for parking. Most of the lot would be taken up by the auditorium.

A site in the nearly cleared area in downtown Cameron has parking all around, and could be coupled with some kind of show arena adjacent for a civic center complex. The schools would have to haul students for school functions.

It has worked in taking students to Cameron Armory for symphony concerts. It would work for other events during school.

Evening concerts they commute anyhow.

A well planned auditorium-civic center provides a fine place for people wanting to contribute a living memorial to art, music, and theatre. A small city like Cameron has built facilities for lively people.

The time is coming for building facilities for the lively arts.

MARIJUANA HAUL--Police Chief Felipe Martinez displays the large quantity of marijuana found in a suspect's home Thursday. The haul also contained "unknown substance," which is being tested for identification in Austin.

3 Charged Here With Possession

Cameron police confiscated hundreds of dollars worth of marijuana and are having other substances tested after the arrest Thursday of a young Cameron man.

In related incidents, police also arrested a young Rogers man and another from Cameron on Wednesday.

Bond was set at $5,000 by Justice of the Peace Jess Brock on each three charges filed against Ray Rylander, about 21, of Cameron. He is charged with delivering methamphetamine ("speed") to Leon Petty of Rogers, possessing marijuana, and possessing methamphetamine.

Rylander was arrested at his home and several large bags of marijuana were confiscated, along with what police term "an unknown substance" which is being tested for identification.

Petty's bond was set at $5,000 and he is charged with possession of methamphetamine. Petty, about 20, was arrested on West 4th St. by Cameron police Thursday.

Bond has been set at $500 for Simon Rangel Jr., of Cameron, who was arrested on S. Travis Wednesday by Cameron police and charged with possession of a controlled substance, namely methamphetamine.

Airport Controversy Continues

Officials and attorneys from McGregor and Waco met to explore the possibility of a compromise of differences concerning the McGregor airport. This is the latest of a long series of legal and verbal maneuvers between the two cities since 1971 when Waco discovered the McGregor city limit sign at the airport.

Bank Charter Denied

Tomanet Corp., which in late 1973 sought a charter for a national bank in Rockdale, has announced that its application for the charter has been denied in Washington, D.C. The application was for a First National Bank of Rockdale, to be located at 501 West Cameron.

King Cotton Dethroned

King Cotton's crown has slipped considerably this year as area farmers have turned from cotton production to grain sorghum and relatively new crops including sunflowers, soybeans, and popcorn. This turnaway is certain to have a strong economic impact on Hearne. Grain is cheaper to raise than cotton and companies whose business is based on cotton can expect a decline in income.

Leg Broken, Crutches Missing

A Somerville man broke his leg last week and is seeking the return of his crutches. He is in Lutkin Memorial Hospital but should be able to come home sometime this week. His wife requests, "Whoever borrowed or has Mr. Ronald Leisure's aluminum crutches please return them."

Police Chief Chides Council

A proposal made to the Thorndale city council on the creation of a reserve police force was defeated by a motion to "forget the whole thing." Chief of Police Taylor Holland, apparently disappointed at the outcome of the vote, said, "Thank you gentlemen, I see now I have no support in this town at any time."

Embattled Landowners Fight

Many embattled landowners whose farms and ranches in southwestern Coryell County are being eyed by the Army for 59,300-acre expansion of the Fort Hood reservation, won't be surrendering without a fight. Three hundred of them, grinningly opposed to the takeover of their homeland, voted Sunday to "continue the fight by all legal means" and make their opposition felt in the corridors of power in Congress, which has the final say-so in the matter.

Alcoa Plans Record Spending

Despite severe capital restraints, Aluminum Company of America plans record expenditures of $415 million in 1975 for property, plant and equipment, shareholders were told in Alcoa's annual report.

"In 1974, expenditures were $355.7 million, compared to $197 million in 1973," John D. Harper, board chairman, and W. H. Krome George, president, reported in their letters to shareholders.

"Capital projects will include the plant in Texas to make use of the breakthrough Alcoa Smelting Process, the magnesium and silicon plant in Washington, and completion of smelting modernization at Massena, New York. Environmental expenditures will require about 15 percent of the budget, as they did in 1974, and as they are expected to do in the foreseeable future."

The greatest challenge ahead for Alcoa is to increase its rate of return on invested, the two noted in the report. At the 1974 rate--the highest since 1957--the company simply cannot generate enough capital to finance capacity sufficient to meet the anticipated growth in demand for aluminum, which is estimated at six percent annually through 1980.

Return on invested capital (net income as a percentage of share holders' equity plus long-term debt) was 6.9 percent in 1974, as compared with 4.5 percent in 1973. Return on shareholders' equity was 11.2 percent in 1974, compared with 7.4 percent in 1973.

"Through the first nine months, demand for aluminum exceeded supply to fill customers needs, our smelters were operated at capacity during 1974, producing a record 1.72 million tons of aluminum," Harper and George reported. "The company also purchased 143,000 tons of ingot from the U. S. stockpile, essentially filling Alcoa's commitment under the government's disposal program."

"By the fourth quarter, as a result of the deepening worldwide economic decline, Alcoa shipments were trailing the year-earlier level by 18 percent. Because of lower demand, we initiated, early in 1975, a program to reduce domestic primary ingot production at locations where operating costs are particularly high."

The report noted specific cost increases in three areas: "New levies by bauxite-producing nations substantially increased the cost of the vital material."

*Employment costs continued to rise, a result of 40-month labor contracts signed in February 1974, and upward adjustments in other wage, salary, and benefits programs.

"We believe that energy supplies, especially natural gas, will become more limited, so we are converting equipment to alternate fuels where practical and developing contingency plans for all operations," Harper and George added. "Alcoa and other U. S. aluminum producers have pledged to reduce energy consumption per unit of product by 10 percent by 1980, with 1974 as a base."

Charles Kunz Receives McCullin Civic Award

Charles Kunz received the 1974 A. W. McCullin Award for outstanding community service Thursday night at the Cameron Area Chamber of Commerce banquet.

Jack Chubb, 1973 winner, presented the award to Kunz for his work with the American Legion, the Cameron Folk Dancers, Cameron history Club, and the Folk Fete.

Kunz, a carpenter, is chaplain of the American Legion. He also is a founder of Folk Fete and has been active in voluntary scouting work.

Joe Griffith, television personality, entertained about 200 members and guests with jokes and anecdotes about television commercials and show business.

Mrs. Barbara Smitherman, manager of the Chamber of Commerce received a plaque in recognition of her work on behalf of the community.

Outgoing chamber president, L. W. Stroup commended the members of the 1974 chamber for their assistance during the past year. Among accomplishments Stroup mentioned were downtown urban renewal project, the mall dedication, and formation of a chamber of commerce ladies auxiliary.

Incoming president Bill Kelm presented a plaque to Stroup for "a job well done," and encouraged all interested citizens to give suggestions, support, and criticism to the chamber during the coming year.

Vaculins Named Farm Family Of The Year

A certificate of merit was awarded by the United States Department of Agriculture, Farmers Home Administration to Mr. and Mrs. Laddie Vaculin, Milam County farmers, who have been named Farmers Home Administration Farm Family of the Year of District 9. The district covers twelve counties.

The citation was based on the family's successful farm operations, worthy home life, achievement of a record of civic involvement, thereby contributing significantly to rural community improvement.

The Vaculin family was selected from twelve district nominees. Those nominated are farm families who have made outstanding success through the use of Farmers Home Administration credit in developing a family farm, while at the same time contributing to the betterment of agriculture and their community.

The Vaculin family operates 427 acres of farmland and participated in the Blackland Income Growth program with a five year demonstration project of crop rotation and fertilization. Primary crops grown on this land are cotton, corn, and milo.

Since 1965, Mr. Vaculin has completed parallel terracing and waterways, constructed a shed for his combine storage and with other storage has adequate buildings to properly store all of his equipment. Also, with the assistance of Farmers Home Administration, the family has improved their home to make it more comfortable for the family.

This family, through improved management practices, hard work, and the wise use of credit, has been able to develop a most successful and profitable family farm, while at the same time exemplifying rural community leadership and citizenship.

The family includes three children, ages, 11, 10, and 3, and with their parents are all active in school, church, and community affairs.

Cameron Neighborhood Park...

Roughly two city blocks will be turned into a playground of two tennis courts, two basketball courts, two baseball diamonds and other playground facilities about May 1.

They are to be called Cameron Neighborhood Park.

Facilities will enable West Cameronites to have facilities adjacent to OJT Mid-School. It should enable a third tennis court to be freed of basketball goals and return full use to Yoe Courts.

This is the park for which pianist Danny Kelley is returning to Cameron to play a benefit concert April 1.

It is the start of a major city-wide sports program, urged on year-round by Cameron Chamber ladies committee.

The new park will add still another dimension to the rapidly expanding recreation facilities of Cameron. These are at once basic and added attraction to people living here or moving in.

"Something to do" requires some place to do it. Sports will have real boost in a park which alleviates the pressure of numbers on facilities in the rest of town.

"A place to do it" will now mean park facilities for active people wanting to develop skills good for fun and competitive sports, which Cameron proves year in, year out, it is good at.

Cameron Neighborhood Park will add a dimension greatly enhancing this community's attractiveness.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

NEW WAYS TO BOOST DEFICIT SPENDING

REP. HENRY D. RUESS (Wis.) "... I am today joining as co-sponsor with the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. Barrett) in introducing the Home Heating Efficiency Act of 1975. . . . H. R. 3573 would achieve these two objectives by authorizing assistance payments to low- and middle-income homeowners to encourage and assist them in making home improvements. . . . These improvements would involve such items as additional insulation, storm windows and doors, and caulking and weather stripping. . . . Assistance is limited to households with annual adjusted gross income from Federal tax purposes of less than $20,000.

"The assistance payment to any household can cover 25 percent of the cost of the improvements up to a maximum payment of $300. For homeowners with incomes below the poverty level the bill permits 90 percent of the cost, subject of the $300 maximum. . . . The bill authorizes $800 million for this program. . . . (This congressman disagrees)

REP. PIERRE S. (Pete) du PONT (Del.) "... At a time when inflation is tearing our economy apart, when the projected budget deficit for the coming fiscal year is a minimum of $53 billion, the Congress has refused to substantially cut the Federal budget. Acting under the new budget procedure adopted by the Congress, the President has proposed to rescind $949.4 million in appropriations. The President found 40 Federal programs in which he believed expenses could be reduced. . . .

"But the Congress did not have the muscle or the stomach to make these cuts. . . .

"I do not believe that fighting inflation, or cutting Federal expenditures is solely a subject for campaign rhetoric. It is a subject that demands action by the Congress. . . .

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

ITEM (Grand Rapids (Mich) Press Bureau): Sen. Williams Proxmire, D-Wis., asked the General Accounting Office to investigate the awarding of $342,378 contract to MSU (Mich. State University) Prof. David J. Kalen for the three-year study aimed primarily at finding out why sexually active single women fail to use contraceptives. These young women will be asked to answer detailed questions about where, when, with whom, and how often they have engaged in sexual activities," Proxmire said. Because of its personal nature, he said, "if the research is needed at all, should it not be funded from private than taxpayer funds?"

This should make interesting reading for those applying for food stamps, and to Michigan Congressman requesting Federal aid for those whose unemployment benefits have run out.

TJC Offers Continuing Ed Classes

The Continuing Education Division at Temple Junior College will offer nine classes beginning in late March or early April: watercolor technique, art experience for children, guitar, interior decoration, meditation, karate, sailing, sailing, swimming, and bicycle repair, maintenance, and safety.

Students may register for the classes by mailing the registration form available from the college to the continuing education office at least one week before a class begins, or a person may register at the continuing education office in person or at the first class meeting, Douglas Ferril, director, said. Students will be refunded 100 percent if a class does not make, he said.

No Quick Solution Seen For Idled

DETROIT - William Drake said sadly: "The one thing I've got is time to look for bargains."

Drake is one of nearly 220,000 truck and car workers laid off in Michigan's factory towns, the biggest vehicle-producing complex in the world.

They sit listlessly at home watching television or spend hours over a half-drunk glass of beer in a bar. They form long queues outside the offices of the Michigan employment security commission or they go shopping with their wives.

There is not much else to do.

Parked in well-guarded fields round the towns are the shining symbols of their distress -- the hundreds of thousands of new cars the giant makers, General Motors, Ford and Chrysler, cannot sell.

The cars are awaiting delivery to showrooms which are already overstocked. Americans, hit by rising costs of food, clothing and housing, are no longer buying a car every two years. Many factories are slowing to a standstill.

Drake, a father of three, who lives in the Detroit suburb of Sterling Heights, was laid off from his job at a Chrysler factory six weeks ago.

"My wife and I have learned to economize," he said. "We spend a lot of time hunting for bargains. We compare prices of groceries in the various shops before we buy anything and we clip coupons from newspapers offering so many cents off soap powders and other items."

Drake is trying to put some money away for the day when things really become tight. So far, money has not been too much of a problem for his family.

Along with many of his fellow car workers laid off,

Drake receives what is known as "supp payments," which bring their money up to 95 per cent of their regular take-home pay.

Funds for "supp payments" are provided by the big car makers in good times to be used in bad times. But the fund was intended to help workers only during brief "holidays" caused by the retooling of assembly lines for new models or for other brief upsets, and the money is running out.

"If I knew for sure I'd get back to work in February or March, it would not be so bad," Drake said. "But I can't count on it."

Some of the men who have worked in car factories for a short time have already been taken off the "supp payments" list.

They now form long queues outside the offices of the Michigan Employment Security Commission in Detroit and the other car towns of Saginaw, Flint and Bay City. One disgruntled car factory worker tried to get to the head of the queues at the point of a gun. Fights break out in the queues as the laid off workers lose patience in their search for jobs.

Not since the depression days of the 1930s have the queues been so long. Charity organizations are appealing to people who still have jobs to help those who have been laid off.

Office workers are joining the queues as car firms cut their costs. Factories which supply the car companies which parts are also playing off employees. Department stores, hit by falling sales in the car towns, are giving staff members early holidays.

Detroit, no longer receiving the amount of city taxes collected when the car plants were at full production, has said it must lay off 1,500 workers this month.

What Others Say ...

Equal Rights Push Needed...

The Illinois Senate's postponement of a vote to ratify the Equal Rights Amendment this week underscores how the drive for passage has stalled.

Only four more states must ratify the amendment, which declares that "equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex." But at least two of the 34 states that have ratified the amendment now want to rescind their action. And the amendment's backers now think that, though 1975 has been officially declared International Women's Year, it may not be the year for final ERA passage.

Resistance to passage has some new as well as familiar roots. In strictly legal terms, it is argued that such an amendment is not necessary. Current legislation such as the Equal Pay Act of 1963 attacks sex discrimination. The Supreme Court recently has refused to uphold statutes or practices that give men privileges not afforded women, suggesting that the high court is already moving toward a fuller recognition of women's rights.

The resistance in the ERA's homestretch is also due to nonlegal causes. The recession, the recent period of social unrest on the campuses, the contention in cities over racial integration, the surge in divorces -- indeed a large conflux of social and economic events -- have left many citizens perplexed at the pace of change. And, however unfairly, the amendment is at least momentarily caught in the reaction against events which have altered familiar community, job, and family patterns.

A concerted effort by President Ford to join Mrs. Ford in urging passage of the amendment, could help overcome resistance as shown this week by the Illinois Legislature. The measure could be passed this year.

However, it may be more likely that 1976 -- still well short of the 1979 deadline -- will be the year for ERA passage. It will be a presidential election year and the bicentennial year -- a compelling combination of the drive of elected officials to accomplish things politically and the renewed awareness of the broader need for equal rights which led to the nation's founding.

TP&L Signs Contract With Soviets

Texas Power & Light Company announced today that a contract has been signed with a Soviet Union firm that will lead to a development project to determine the feasibility of underground gasification of deep lignite coal deposits in East Texas.

Gasification of lignite is being studied as a potential source of fuel for generating electricity.

The contract with V/O Licensintorg of Moscow was signed with Texas Utilities Services, Inc., an affiliate of TP&L, Dallas Power & Light Company, and Texas Electric Service Company. All are members of the Texas Utilities Company system.

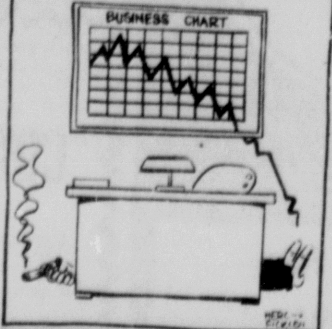

V/O Licensintorg is an exporter and importer of technology for the government of the U.S.S.R.

TUSI President Perry G. Brittain said the pilot project in East Texas is one part of the electric companies' continuing research into all technologically feasible alternatives to increasingly expensive natural gas and oil as fuels for generating electricity. The companies began using mined lignite in 1971, and are constructing a jointly-owned nuclear generating facility which is scheduled for service in 1980.

According to Brittain, Soviet research into the underground production of comcombustible gas from deep coal deposits began in 1933 and is considerably further developed than recently-begun U. S. efforts. The contract provides documented technology from more than 40 years of Soviet research to be used by TUSI in the east Texas development project.

The Lonely Heart

Exec Warns Of Higher Insurance

"If the House passed bill to limit fines for speeding between 55 and 70 miles an hour to $25 with no effect on insurance rates is finally enacted into law, everybody will pay more for auto insurance," an Austin insurance executive warned today.

F. Darby Hammond, president of Southwestern Insurance Information Service here, said that the Legislature "is courting real danger." He said the bill, if passed by the Senate and signed by the Governor, is going to "increase the cost of insurance without a doubt."

He pointed out that increased speed will mean "a greater frequency of accidents and they will be more severe." He said that somebody will have to pay for the increased expense to insurance companies, "and that somebody will be every driver on the road."

Under present insurance regulation, drivers who repeatedly are cited for speeding must pay more for vehicle insurance. "If this is eliminated," Hammond warned, "that cost will be placed on all drivers."

He said that the proposed bill would create confusion and chaos in determining car insurance rates. Rate-makers, he said, would have to determine the frequency and cost of accidents that occur when drivers are speeding between 55 and 70. "And what happens when a speeder smashed into another car and kills several people?" he asked. "Are they going to fine him $25?"

The proposed bill would hamper the Department of Public Safety in getting the speeder off the road, Hammond believes. "They cannot revoke a driver's license for speeding between 55 and 70," he pointed out.

VA Increases Income Limit

A $400 increase in income limits for Veterans Administration pensioners saved 74,000 veterans, widows, and children from reduction or termination of benefits this year and made others eligible for the first time, Jack Coker, VA Regional Director, said today.

Coker said there is no estimate to the number of new eligibles under the increased limits.

Potentially eligible, he explained, are veterans 65 years of age or older and younger veterans who are totally and permanently disabled from nonservice-connected causes. Other income must not exceed $3,000 annually if there are no dependents. The annual limit is $4,200 for veterans with spouses or children.

Similar limits apply for widows of veterans who died of nonservice-connected causes and for parents receiving dependency indemnity compensation (DIC). Children drawing benefits under the current pension law are limited to an annual income of $2,400.

The annual income limits were increased $400 above last year's levels by Public Law 93-527, effective January 1. The legislation also provided a 12 percent increase in pension rates for 2.3 million veterans and survivors on VA pension and DIC par-ent rolls.

'Know Your Garden Tenants' Theme As CGC Meets

"Know Your Garden Tenants" was the theme as the Civic Garden Club members met Thursday, March 20, at the club house of the Business and Professional Women.

The program for the meeting was entitled "Friend or Foe," and was presented by Mrs. Alvin L. Dusek, an outstanding horticulturist in the club.

In her presentation, Mrs. Dusek stressed that good growing practices and good grooming of a garden are essentials in helping vegetation combat insects. She noted two types of insects which damage plants, those of the chewing nature and those of the sucking nature, and gave advice on types of sprays which could be used to control plant pests. Mrs. Dusek said that planting garlic around the trunks of peach trees and marigold flowers among the tomato plants was an effective method to control insects. She added that removal of all undesirable dried debris would help keep bugs away by destroying places they might otherwise live.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Leo Fuchs, vice-president presided over the short business session. Mrs. Theo Aschenbeck, president-elect of the Civic Garden Club, Mrs. B. D. Clark, Mrs. Jim Gandy, and Mrs. Leo Fuchs made reservations to attend the District V Texas Garden Clubs, Inc. spring meeting in College Station. Mrs. Fuchs was listed on the program to give the response to the various greetings extended.

The group voted to hold a workshop April 10 at the B&P Club House on the art of flower arranging. The basic principles of design and the mechanics used in control of making arrangements will be stressed and members attending are asked to each bring their own supplies.

Members signed greeting cards to Mrs. W. M. Fanning, a member who recently had eye surgery in Austin and to Milton Falkner and M. H. Wimberly, members' husbands who were ill.

The hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Eula Crook and Mrs. Milton Falkner, who served refreshments during the social hours.

The flower arrangement for constructive criticism was a hogarth curve made and discussed by Mrs. Milton Falkner. After observing the flower arrangement, members shared in a plant exchange.

Mrs. Robert Glenn and Mrs. Leo Fuchs will be hostesses at the next meeting which will convene at 9 a. m.

Marriage Is Financial As Well As Emotional Union

COLLEGE STATION Marriage should be a financial as well as emotional partnership, one family resource management specialist recommended this week.

"To attain this, frank discussions about money available and each partner's desires and needs are necessary," Mrs. Lillian Chenoweth, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System, said.

One important point to remember when figuring income available is to base plans on net income—what's left after taxes, the specialist reminded.

Also, income from all sources needs to be considered. "Each partner should understand who is to be responsible for paying the bills or balancing the checkbook at the end of the month. Together the couple should list any fixed expenses and outstanding debts, such as loans or installment payments."

One of the best ways to avoid the potential crisis of unexpected bills coming due is to set aside a definite amount of money from each pay period, she noted.

"Fixed expenses to consider are mortgage or rent payments, taxes, insurance premiums, or education costs. Savings should also be considered a fixed expense by setting a certain minimum to save and treating this as another fixed expense," the specialist advised.

she suggested that each partner—and children if there are any—should get a personal allowance. It should be understood that this money can be spent however desired and doesn't need to be explained.

"Future installment buying should be planned together. No installment debt or large expenditures should be taken on without a joint agreement," she added.

Ceremony Unites Couple

Miss Nancy Hampton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford R. Hampton of Amarillo, and Mr. Emmet Carson, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Emmet Carson Sr. of Enid, Oklahoma, were united in marriage April 12 in the Chapel of Wilshire Baptist Church in Dallas with Dr. L. Taylor Daniel officiating.

Mrs. Hampton designed her daughter's gown of white L' Tressa polyester. The scoop back neckline was accented by a cape collar trimmed in lace. The bride's bouquet of orchids and roses was attached to a lace trimmed Bible belonging to the late Mrs. Carson. The bride also carried an antique handkerchief that her mother carried in her own wedding.

Mrs. Paul A. Hollis of Tyler, sister of the bride, and Richard F. Sims of Dallas attended the couple. A reception in the church parlor followed the wedding with Mrs. James K. Neal, Shirley Ramsey, Elaine Elkins, Marcia Munson, all of Dallas; and Kathy Daniel of Waco completing the houseparty.

Mrs. Carson is a graduate of Amarillo High School and attended Wayland Baptist College, Plainview, and West Texas State University at Canyon. She has been employed by the Annuity Board of the Southern Baptist Convention in Dallas for the past nine years.

Mr. Carson is a graduate of Enid High School in Enid, Oklahoma and Southwestern Baptist Theological Semnary in Ft. Worth. He was Minister of Music, Youth and Education for the First Baptist Church of Cameron before going to Breckenridge.

Following a honeymoon in San Antonio, Mr. and Mrs. Emmet Carson will make their home in Breckenridge where he is currently serving on the staff of the First Baptist Church.

Reducing plan for energy users

Plan C How to save electricity when using ranges

- When using top-of-range utensils, cover tightly and cook with minimum of water. Cooking's faster; less energy's used. Food looks and tastes better, too.
- Use flat bottomed utensils for best contact with heating surface. Use proper size utensils. A 6" pan on an 8" heating surface wastes energy.
- Preheat oven only when needed and only to temperature stated. Normal preheat is 10 minutes; any longer wastes energy.
- When broiling, do not preheat. Leave door ajar... air circulation insures proper broiling.
- Use oven fully. Fill it with foods that cook at same temperature. Freeze extras for later use.
- Center pans in from oven sides, staggered above each other (no overlap) for best heat distribution.
- Keep oven shut. Opening door drops temperature 25° or more; wastes energy.
- Thaw frozen meats before cooking.
- Do not use oven or surface heating elements for home heating.
- Turn range off immediately when finished.

Conserve electricity and you help conserve one or more of the fuels needed to produce it: natural gas, coal and oil. Conserve fuels and you help assure that there will be enough to meet essential needs for electricity in the future.

When you pass a TP&L office, warehouse, generating plant or other facility, you'll see that we've turned off all non-essential lighting. And, in as many other ways as possible, TP&L is reducing its own uses of electricity.

If you would like additional information on conserving electricity, call or see the Customer Service Representative in the TP&L Office.

Trotline fishermen seeking the mighty cat use a multitude of different baits as well as some unusual combinations.

For instance, the mixture used by some anglers is composed of beef brains and limburger cheese. Others use chicken livers, blood bait and just plain old factory-made stink bait. Still others use white laundry soap.

One, Joe W. Burkett of Arlington, Tex., whose favorite is soap, read about the beef brains and limburger cheese idea and decided to experiment. He alternated the new (to him) combo by dipping a sponge-laden hook into the beef-cheese mix, and so treated every other hook. On the alternate hooks he placed his favorite, Ivory soap.

He reports that most of his fish were caught on the soap.

His theory is that the fish were drawn to the trotline by the smell of the stink bait, which they tasted out of curiosity. Then they went for the soap in order to wash the taste from their mouths.

Joe says it's truly a deadly combination.

A similar bait, for casting, is suggested by Mercury Outdoor Topics. They call it the "bloodsicle".

Select several plugs, spinners and spoons the day before going fishing and wrap balls of cotton around the hooks. Then soak the cotton in beef, chicken or pork blood and place the lure in the freezer overnight. Since the blood-sicle is frozen, it thaws slowly in water and releases its scent over a period of time. This bait is reported as a particularly good tempter for walleye.

Another different bait, the "honeyball" appeals to a fish's sweet tooth.

To make them, slowly cook a teaspoonful of anise seed in a half-cup of hot water for three to four minutes. Then add five tablespoons of honey and continue simmering the mixture until a thin syrup is formed.

Next add a half-cup of whole wheat flour and remove the pot from the flame. Stir in a cup of corn meal and knead it with a fork.

When this has cooled, pour it onto waxed paper and shape it into a flat, thin cake.

You should have a tough dough that, when rolled into balls, will stay on the hook for a long time.

Honeyballs are good bait for carp, catfish and drum.

Yoe Sweeps Belton In Twinbill

In the first game of the twin-bill Yoe held off a last inning scoring threat to take the first half of the series 9-8. Yoe stunned the Tigers in the second half with a hard batting attack that drove in 11 runs to the Tigers 5.

In the first game Cameron started the scoring by toeing home plate with two runs in their first time to bat.

Belton topped the scoring race when they pulled ahead 3-2 in the top of the third as Jay Warrick doubled too and ran the bases to score on an error by Hornung. Bill Harlow marked a home run over the 280 mark in right field to bring in 2 runs.

Gerry Heitman, the Yoe sophomore, connected on a single to pump in Gary Hornung in the bottom half of the 3rd to even the pace to 3 all.

Roy Steger and Jim Buttons crossed home plate in the 4th via a hard hit single by Warlow to give the Tigers a 2 run advantage that they held until the 5th.

The Yoemen surged their way across home plate and scored territory in the 5th inning to gain a 3 run advantage. Ronnie Orsag walked to bring a run. Kopriva singled to give passage to 2 more runs and Joey Mondrik doubled to bring in the final 2 runs.

The Tigers fought back in the final inning to tie the mark when Steger popped a home run that cleared the 300-foot mark.

Gene Kopriva stepped to the batters box and with a winning swing, tapped the ball over the 200 mark for a homer that gave the Yoemen a 9-8 advantage at the end of the final inning.

The Yoemen again marked the 5th inning in the 2nd half of the twin-bill to vault to a 9-4 advantage. The Yoemen were trailing the Tigers until the 5th but the swing came back and the Tigers were never able to regain the deficit. The contest drew little excitement after the bombing of the hard hitting Yoemen in the closing innings of the second half of the double-header.

Yoe JV Rips Roos

The Yoe junior varsity baseballers took to the field Thursday and defeated Killeen JV 10-6. The big score was boosted by three run homer by Gary Hornung.

All-Sports Banquet Scheduled

The Yoe High All Sports Banquet is scheduled for Monday, May 5, 1975. This annual event is presented for the recognition of all athletic teams and players in the high school program.

This year's guest speaker will be Mr. Bob Wright from Texas A&M University who is in charge of recruiting and public relations in the athletic department.

The banquet will be held in the Methodist Fellowship Hall at 7:30 p.m. and all tickets will be $3.00.

The football sweetheart will be presented and the Yoe Booster Club trophy for the outstanding football player will also be presented.

The Yoemen surged ahead in the sixth inning to stay way ahead of any attack by the young Roos.

Killeen's hitting was launched by Paul Smith who chunked in four runners on two hard hit doubles.

ALUMINUM MAGNET TURNS TRASH INTO CASH

Most people don't realize it, but one of the few commodities not in short supply has one of the greatest potentials to help solve America's materials and energy shortages. What is this abundant resource? Garbage!

The United States produces almost one ton of garbage per person per year--nearly 200 million tons annually. This virtually untapped resource contains enormous amounts of recoverable aluminum, glass, rubber, plastics, iron and steel--and the burnable trash could supply one percent of our energy needs!

Until recently, there has not existed a simple and economical system to process and recover all the valuable refuse resources. Ironically, the most valuable frequently found fraction of trash--aluminum, worth about $300 a ton--presented the most challenging problem.

Now, however, a California research firm, Combustion

Power Company, has developed a completely automated resource recovery and energy generation system. A key component of the new system is an electrodynamic nonferrous separator--an "aluminum magnet" that relies on aluminum's nonmagnetic properties and repels instead of attracts the metal.

To operate the system, all that is needed is a little electricity--which the system itself will generate--and a lot of garbage.

The garbage first is shredded, then fed into the resource recovery equipment. There, glass is removed on a revolving trommel screen,

Housing Assistance Available For Vets

The Veterans Administration today reminded married veterans that it is easier than ever before to qualify for housing assistance.

Jack Coker, VA Regional director, noted the agency now accords full recognition to incomes and expenses of both veterans and spouse in determining ability to repay loan obligations.

Coker said VA is required by law to determine if contemplated terms of repayment bear a proper relation to the veteran's anticipated income and expense before approving the loan.
